Booking your Wedding

We welcome our potential wedding couples to visit the Hotel, where we will give you a guided tour of our facilities. This will be done by a member of our Events team, who will then outline your initial requirements and tailor the wedding package we offer to your individual needs. As part of this meeting, we can also look through potential dates for you.

When you have agreed on your wedding date, we can hold a provisional date in our events calendar for up to 21 days, thus giving you the opportunity to coordinate your other arrangements. By holding a provisional date, this gives you peace of mind that until you make a decision no one else can book this date at the hotel. By the 21st day, if you wish to confirm your booking we ask that a non-refundable deposit of £500.00 is paid, which will be deducted from your wedding account. You will also be asked to sign and return the booking confirmation form and terms and conditions agreement provided with this pack.

On receipt of your deposit, your booking form and your terms and conditions agreement, we will write to you with confirmation of your date, and a rooming list if required.

Approximately three months before your wedding, we recommend you book a consultation appointment with us to go over the requirements for your day in more detail. At this appointment, we will go through all of the information required to create a running sheet customised for your special day which will then be sent to you to approve.

Six weeks before your wedding, 50% of your estimated wedding bill is payable, and seven days prior to your wedding 90% of your estimated bill is payable. The remaining balance will be paid after your wedding. An update with guest numbers will be required ten days prior to your wedding date and a final number is required seven days prior to the wedding date, any reductions to this number after the two-week period will be charged at full price.

Banff Springs operate a minimum guest number policy for certain days of the week. Further details of these are provided in our terms and conditions.

After you have your chosen date, you are more than welcome to call or visit the hotel as often as you like to discuss various aspects of your day. You may also wish to show family or friends around the venue however we do recommend making an appointment to ensure you can view the rooms you wish to.

Planning Your Wedding Day

When planning a Wedding, the possibilities are endless, and at the same time can be overwhelming, to help you plan your perfect day, we have put together some information for you. We hope you find it useful, but most importantly, remember this is your wedding, and you make the rules!

The Line-up

Traditionally, a line-up is held as your guests are called through for the wedding breakfast. This can consist of the entire top table, or just the newlyweds. It is worth remembering that the larger your line-up the longer it will take to seat your guests for their meal.

Toasts and Speeches

Traditionally the speeches come at the end of the meal, but more recently these are happening before the meal, to relieve the pressure! Again, this is up to you, but to get you started they would normally follow as:

- ♥ The bride's father (or a family friend) proposes a toast to the happy couple.
- ♥ This is replied to by the Groom, who thanks both sets of parents and the guests, followed by a toast to the bridesmaids.
- ♥ The Best Man replies on behalf of the Bridesmaids and reads the cards.

Cutting the Cake

The cutting of the cake can take place at any point during the wedding breakfast, either before, during or after the meal, it is up to you. If the cake is to be served at your evening buffet, it can also be done before your dance begins to allow evening guests to see it.

Additional Treats

Our past wedding couples have arranged for a bottle of champagne to be put into the rooms of their bridal parties as a token of their appreciation.
